

7 TIMES A NIGHT IN BAKER STREET

THE SHERLOCK HOLMES
REUNION: APTITUDE FOR DETECTIVE

EXCLUSIVE

By David Crompton

"SHERLOCK HOLMES has a cold and fever but an insatiable appetite for me" was the quelling announcement by the former
James Bond's fiancée.

On the other hand, when

TAKING OVER TV!

30 p

MISS ME?

- CRIMINAL OF THE CENTURY LEAVES TV MESSAGE!
- JAMES MORIARTY BELIEVED TO BE DEAD
- EXPERTS SUSPECT A SHERLOCK STUNT!

by GARY COLLINS

James Moriarty - the so-called 'Criminal of the Century' - made a surprise appearance on British TV screens last night, amid speculation that the famous detective Sherlock Holmes is somehow involved with the death of media mogul Charles Augustus Magnusson.

Moriarty rose to international acclaim in 2010, after making moves to steal the Crown Jewels in an attempt to draw the attention of the world famous detective. His trial was one of the most closely scrutinised over the following months, before the delivery of a not guilty verdict.

CONTINUED PAGES 2-3

SUPER SLEUTH Sherlock Holmes and companion John Watson.

Hero of the Reichenbach

Turner masterpiece recovered by 'amateur'

Scotland Yard embarrassed
by overlooked clues

Janette Owen

Crime correspondent

A Turner masterpiece worth £1.7million that was stolen from an auction house ten days ago has been recovered by an amateur detective from North London. Sherlock Holmes of Baker Street has been investigating the art crime simply as a hobby, and yet he was able to follow the trail that lead him to the famous work - a trail that Scotland Yard missed completely. Sherlock has gained a cult following follow-

Holmes (right) and his assistant John Watson, below, the recovered painting

FOR HEALTH
SEE PAGE SEVEN

FREE INSIDE LIVING LIFE TO THE FULL 8-PAGE SPECIAL

SHAG-A-LOT HOLMES

Sherlock is as red

